Dear Parent/Guardian

As a condition for school attendance, Washington State law requires that all students either be immunized against certain preventable diseases or provide school personnel with written notification of exemption, with a signature from your child's physician or his/her representative.

A copy of the Washington State Department of Health document showing Vaccines Required for School Attendance, Grades K-12 for the 2010-2011 school year is included in this registration packet for your information.

An official Washington State Certificate of Immunization Status form has been included with this Kindergarten Round Up package. Enter the month, day and year, as accurately as you can remember for each dose of vaccine received. Please sign and date the form!

Statement of Exemption to Immunization Law

Your child may be exempted (excused) from immunization for medical, personal or religious reasons. If it is for a medical reason, your child's physician must sign the form. However, if there is an outbreak of a vaccine-preventable disease that your child has not been immunized against, she or he may be excluded from school, preschool or child care until the outbreak is over.

If you are claiming a personal or religious exemption, please fill out and sign the exemption section on the reverse side of the Certificate of Immunization form clearly stating which vaccines you want exempted.

Your physician does not need to sign this form except to document a medical exemption or verify that your child has laboratory evidence of immunity to measles, rubella, or mumps, and others as listed on the back of the CIS form, and for verification of varicella disease. A parent cannot document this exemption or verification. This must be done by your child's physician.

The general objective of this immunization law is to help prevent disease and protect both your child and the community. Again, please understand that compliance with the law is required for school attendance.

Sincerely
Anacortes School District Health Care Team
